Quorum Announces Integration with General Motors' Online Service Scheduling (OSS) System

Appointments Made via OSS Pass Seamlessly into Quorum's XSELLERATOR™ DMS

Calgary, AB, February 28th, 2017 – Quorum Information Technologies (Quorum) announced today that it has completed integration with the web-based customer service appointment scheduling system offered by General Motors, referred to as OSS (Online Service Scheduling).

General Motors' OSS system is available to dealerships in the US and Canada. The system gives them the ability to embed or link the scheduling system within their websites. Quorum's XSELLERATOR dealership management system (DMS) passes availability information to OSS and, in turn, OSS sends appointments made by customers with the system back to the DMS in real-time.

"Developing this capability with GM is a part of our on-going philosophy to enhance the communication and integration between dealership and manufacturer systems to provide seamless workflow and added value to the dealership," said Dan Ichelson, Quorum's Vice President of Product and Operations. "The new integration is available to our GM dealership customers at no cost. Once set-up with GM, they just need to contact our Support Centre to activate it," he added.

Quorum is demonstrating the system at the NADA Convention in New Orleans this weekend, January 27th-29th. To schedule a demonstration, please visit www.QuorumDMS.com/nada2017. Quorum is exhibiting in booth number 4219 at the convention.
